LITERATURE
GENRE: SHORT STORY

Lesson Notes

There are two types of conflict:
1) External - A struggle with a force outside one's self.
2) Internal - A struggle within one's self; a person must make some decision, overcome pain, quiet their temper, resist an urge, etc.

There are four kinds of conflict:
1) Man vs. Man (physical) - The leading character struggles with his physical strength against other men, forces of nature, or animals.
2) Man vs. Circumstances (classical) - The leading character struggles against fate, or the circumstances of life facing him/her.
3) Man vs. Society (social) - The leading character struggles against ideas, practices, or customs of other people.
4) Man vs. Himself/ Herself (psychological) - The leading character struggles with himself/herself; with his/her own soul, ideas of right or wrong, physical limitations, choices, etc.

b) highlight its relevance to your own society.

PLAN is provided below.

Titles: a. 'The Waste Land'
b. 'Ajaiyi and the Witch Doctor'

Authors: a. Alan Paton
b. Amos Tutuola

Plan

Paragraph 1 – Introduction

- Important messages are conveyed by writers which usually have relevance to other societies.

- Alan Paton in 'The Waste Land' and Amos Tutuola in 'Ajaiyi and the Witch Doctor' also depict significant messages to readers.

- This essay will discuss messages conveyed and its relevance.

Paragraph 2

- Messages conveyed in 'The Waste Land'

- Treachery and betrayal and youth crime.

- Freddy was a youth involved in youth crime. He tried to rob his own father for a few dollars.

Paragraph 3 - Relevance

- Children are found betraying the love and trust of their parents; parents are abandoned as well.

- Rise in youth crime in our society.

Paragraph 4

- Messages in 'Ajaiyi and the Witch Doctor'

- Betrayal and struggle for survival

- Ajaiyi is betrayed by the Witch Doctor when he took advantage of his innocence.

- Ajaiyi tried diligently to work hard and get rid of his poverty.

Paragraph 5 – Relevance

- innocent people in our society are often taken advantage of by others

- There is extreme poverty in some cases in our society.

- Many struggle throughout life to overcome poverty and eventually die in poverty like Ajaiyi's father.

Paragraph 6 – Conclusion

- Authors were successfully able to convey the messages through their stories.

- These messages are indeed relevant to our society.
